

Youth at the Booth

- 17-year-old seniors can be poll workers in Ohio, learning about our election process while earning some money. They can also possibly earn extra credit and a boost on their college applications.
- Seniors in high school can be part of something bigger this fall. Encourage young people in your life to be poll workers and help defend democracy!
- Many poll workers are unable to be there this November. In Ohio, 17-year-old high school seniors can serve as poll workers and help their community make their voice heard in the election.
- Start them young! Though they cannot vote, 17-year-old high school seniors can serve as poll workers in Ohio. Encourage seniors in your community to be a hero this election and help defend democracy!
